DALLAS ARCHITECTURE FORUM PRESENTS 365 MODERN

The Specs: What happens when you mix a bevy of architecture buffs with an exclusive peek into a buzz-worthy penthouse pad, plus a few libations to boot? All-out home-building euphoria. The Dallas Architecture Forum kicked off its 365 Modern Series with conversation and a convivial cocktail party at Robert Matejek's 10,000-square-foot penthouse home in Victory Park's tony high-rise, The House. Party chat centered on Matejek's sweeping views and clean lines, courtesy of More Design + Build and Emily Summers Design Associates, and the impressive 5,000-square-foot outdoor living space artfully landscaped by Hocker Design Group.

House Guests: DAF's president Frank Aldridge and vice president, Cindy Schwartz, along with dwelling devotees Neal Friske; Barry Whistler; Caroline and Dax Pass; the decorator herself, Emily Summers; and Chad Dorsey.

BRIGGS FREEMAN SOTHEBY'S PEACOCKTAIL PARTY

The Specs: When guests weren't gushing over the wood-paneled library, basement-level bedroom suite, or wine cellar and tasting room at 4441 South Versailles Avenue (all planned, primed and pushed up by architect Will Snyder, builder Christine Goff and interior designer Ann Schooler), they were busy mingling with Peacocktail Party hosts Lindy Mahoney and Robbie Briggs of Briggs Freeman Sotheby's. The duo opened the French Regency-style abode's les portes for a PC-sponsored soirée with Latin-style bites, tinkling piano tunes by Andrew Michlin and Parisian style in spades. House Guests: Kara and Robert Wyatt, Nancy Loewe, and Katrina and Steven Bradford.

UNITED WAY OF METROPOLITAN DALLAS' TACOS AND TOCQUEVILLE

The Specs: How to honor the United Way of Metropolitan Dallas' generous Tocqueville Society donors? Park a tasty taco truck brimming with Mexican goodies from Salsa Limón, blend up some serious margaritas served by the cupful (in a brightly logoed PaperCity cup, you should know), truck in chaise lounges and chairs in an airy orange-and-white palette, then hire a trio of jazzy musicians — and do it all on The Rachofsky House lawn. House Guests: Picnic-chic partygoers included United Way of Metropolitan Dallas VIP Jennifer Sampson and Edward Sampson, plus Ruth and Ken Altshuler, Caren and Pete Kline, Nancy Dedman, and Caroline Rose Hunt.
